"Sylvia"

The homeless Rotarians, well some of us anyway, headed out to dinner and the theatre for a spot of culture.

Having met Amanda in her role as Peace Corp worker on a remote island in the Pacific, and heard of her dreams of stardom as an actress, it was great to finally see her in action on the stage.

Amanda will be returning to Canada on the 19th but hopes to be back here with an extended work permit in 4 months. Judging by her performance tonight we should hear more of her in the future.

Sylvia is a very demanding and energetic role and Amanda did an excellent job at it.

A great evening with a very nice dinner and fantastic company.

Incidentally, Kumeu Rotary did not ignore us. Their secretary has left and is now overseas; and the President was in Australia last week. Trish Reid is the new secretary, reads our bulletin and says we are more than welcome to visit. We'll try to arrange a joint meeting for our new Rotary year.

And on the subject of Vanuatu...

Phil has created a video for New Lynn on the water tank project and put it on You Tube. It is far better than mine and definitely worth a look.

What the Other Clubs are up to:

Bargains to be had at Rotary book fair

By LES WATKINS

More than $18,000 was raised for local causes and youth clubs by the weekend book sale mounted in Orewa's Community Hall by the Orewa Rotary Club.

An old copy of The Bible went by tender for $50 to become the most expensive book sold.

"At the other end of the scale we had children's books being snapped up at 50 cents each," says organiser Adrienne Renton. "And there were bargains in every type of book - from science fiction and biographies to gardening and geography."

"We were absolutely thrilled by the amount raised at a time when money is a bit tight. Much of the success of this three-day sale was the tremendous support given in advance publicity by the Rodney Times. That resulted in people queuing up even before we opened the doors on the first day."

Orewa Rotary Club charged a $10 entry fee for about the first hour of the club's book sale.

"This is common practice at sales which are raising funds for the local community," she says.

"The charge is really aimed at book-sellers who certainly don't mind paying it."

Dear Terry

Rotary Group Study Exchange Hosting of Team from D1760

The D1760 GSE Team has now departed after 4 weeks of travel throughout our District. On behalf of District Governor Georges and my Committee, I compliment your Club on the work that they did to make this exchange the huge success that it was.

I have had very good feedback from the Team regarding the many friendships that developed with Rotarians and families, and the overall programmes and vocational experiences that they each had. Please thank the co-ordinators, host families, drivers and other contributors in your Club to implementing the varied programmes that were provided. I would particularly like to thank firstly Bob Benzie for his planning but who unfortunately had to withdraw from the coordination task due to his health; and secondly Patrick Howard who took over as coordinator – going that extra step to make the visit so enjoyable for the Team. Also please thank Graeme and Karen Nicholson for filling in for Bob and Sue as hosts.

You will be pleased to know that Loic, who fractured his ankle on his third day here, did not need an operation when he arrived home – the medical care in New Zealand was sufficient.

The Team said that the experiences gained by the Team were immeasurable. They were extremely appreciative of the organisation throughout the District. This is a reflection on each and every club involved.

I will e-mail a copy of this letter to the co-ordinators and host families that were involved.

Thank you for participating in the programme for 2009-10

Yours in Rotary

Bob Lang
